Daily English Sentences

- What return did get?
- It is who help you.
- He has soliloquy in solitude.
- I’m regarding you.
- Why don’t you do it yourself?
- Purify yourself before come.
- Have you gone off your head?
- The one who fears is no more.
- He can say it to your face.
- Do not gesticulate.
- What are you here for?
- He lacks wisdom.
- Do not come in front of me.
- It is available over there.
- You are very brute.
- Read my lips.
- I am going to abroad.
- I am about to take food.
- The class is in progress.
- You should better avoid me.
- I need a glass of water.
- You can’t save your skin.
- You dig your own grave.
- Why are you against him?
- Do not get out of your limits.
- He almost spoke.
- Your worn will be known later.
- You have put me in a fix.
- You can pass, we are easy.
- You can never be schooled.
- Whose brother is he?
- I’m very familiar with him.
- Man proposes, God disposes.
- It is not right time to do good.
- You are carping tongueded.
- Where is drinking fountain?
- All are not like you.
- Do not spin a yarn.
- You are being very innocent.
- You are worse than animals.
- I did what thought proper.
- I am not guilty before you.
- What should do with it?
- I shall get it.
- Do not drag your feet.
- Honey is not for ass’ mouth.
- What should do with it?
- I didn’t recognize you.
- You look wise but you are not.
- Where were you left?
- The book is under the table.
- I have come a little while ago.
- Stay within your limits.
- What is going on?
- You take my words bitter.
- You have hit the spot.
- Don’t follow my words.
- A figure among ciphers.
- I made him understand.
- You did not even offer.
- I shall welcome the guests.
- Blood is thicker than water.
- Set the watch going.
- It is unfair.
- You will be facing the music.
- Please pass the book.
I have a bone to prick with you.
You will be facing the music.
Love begets love.
Please pass this book.
God’s hills grinds slow but sure.
He does inform you.
What is in the menu?
He is a very crooked person.
To kill two birds with one stone.
Let bygones be bygones,
Wait for your turn.
When he sees a beautiful scene, his heart palpitation increases.
Let him do what he is doing.
If he gets cold, he will pass away.
It is his teasing word.
Have you got used to?
How are you keeping?
Think as you like.
Don’t you damn care?
Was just looking for you.
Has she got there safe and sound?